Oh that's right I can edit the file
I really am dumb some times
I usually just rely on BD's css editor

Install

Vencord/BetterDiscord (or any client that supports theme files)

1. download the theme file, `midnight.theme.css`. (there should be a download button at the top right of the page or click the file name)
2. drag the file into your theme folder. (there should be a button to open the theme folder in theme settings)
3. (optional) customize the theme by editing the options in `midnight.theme.css`.

Install through link add `https://refact0r.github.io/midnight-discord/build/midnight.css` to your theme import links. you will need to copy the theme variables to your quickcss in order to customize the theme.

Flavors

flavors are preset customizations for midnight. screenshots coming soon!

to use a flavor, follow the install instructions above but download the flavor theme file of your choice instead of `midnight.theme.css`.

- background (background image + transparent blurred panels)
- catppuccin mocha
- catppuccin macchiato
- nord
- rose pine
- rose pine moon
- tokyo night
- lilypichu
- vencord

Contributing

this theme uses a dev script to check for changes in the source css files and combine them into a build file. to run locally:

1. clone the repository.
2. run `npm i`.
3. create a `.env` file in the project root with the paths of any local theme files you want to update (comma separated)

DEV_OUTPUT_PATH=C:\Users\USERNAME\AppData\Roaming\Vencord\themes\midnight-dev.theme.css

4. run `npm run dev`.
5. make changes to any file in `/src` or the main theme file. the local theme files you listed will automatically be updated, along with the build file in `/build`.
6. make a pull request with your changes!
